AN INDIFFERENT SCARECROW

Certain of the stalwart democratic newspapers of the country are not quite as enthusiastic as was expected over the prize-winning slogan: "Less of Wall Street—Give Main Street a chance." The truth is some of them have confessed that the possession of a million dollars is not regarded now as the high crime and misdemeanor it was in the days when Bryan and other democratic apostles and leaders were stalking across the stage. A very considerable portion of what the intelligentsia style the "proletariat" of the country instead of being aroused to indignation over the millions which Henry Ford has acquired seemed inclined to pass him and his flivver with a greeting instead of a bad bomb and the intimation that whatever he's got he has worked for and deserves.

It is also worth noting that while at times a few of the belligerently vociferous grow red in the face over Andy Mellon's millions, the mass of the "proletariat" seem inclined to think that his ability to acquire millions for himself has equipped him as a pretty good watch dog for the people of the country. All in all it looks as if the money bogey of the old democratic campaigners has become a rather indifferent scarecrow and instead of envying men like Ford and Mellon and Schwab who have sweated out their millions, the popular desire runs to the acquirement of some six cylinder vehicle which will enable them to do likewise. For these various reasons, it's a fair guess that when the democrats assemble to write their own party platform next June there will be no particularly obtrusive plank for the sentencing of the money devil to be hung, drawn and quartered.

TREASURY TAX PROGRAM

The Treasury Department program for a $300,000,000 tax reduction has appealed to the sound judgment of the country at large. Certain of the democratic leaders, striving for political rather than economic applause, are ranting over the lot yelling for a $500,000,000 reduction. But already they have exhausted the patience of the New York Times and New York World, their own party organs, which are appealing to them to use common sense, and not again make a holy show of themselves.

It is worth remembering that at the time of the last reduction, after the president had decided as to how deep a cut could be made with safety to the country, the long-horn democratic critics started to run off the range and double his figure. In the end, they were rounded up and branded, and voted for what the administration desired. But by reason of their action, they lost all possibility of making any political capital for their party. They were put in the position of voting for the administration tax cut, not because they could not help themselves. The verdict of the people at large was that the administration was on the right trail. They had to obey. Have they forgotten the old saying: "Once burned, twice shy?"

How To EARN MONEY at HOME.

By Sara Spence

There's one New Year's resolution that everybody should have made, and especially you, my dear readers. No, an ordinary, I'll break-it-when I want to resolution, but one that you'll keep. That resolution is that 1928 will be a happier more prosperous new year. There's no reason why it shouldn't be. We live in a remarkable rich and productive country, see to it that you get your share of the good things in life. It will mean work, of course, but when your work is successful you will be happier working. Go over your assets and liabilities as carefully as every business house does on the first of the year. Then start to work now. Radical changes, new plans, new positions, all wait for the new year. Now is the time to start, when the feeling of change is in the air. I am convinced that all of you have many more assets than you realize; make them count in the New Year just started.

I can bake and sew. I can also make fancy things. I can crochet pretty ends of scarfs, make luncheon sets, fancy towel sets, etc. I would like your advice on how I could sell them and to whom. M. M.

N. You live in a neighborhood where people room, make individual size, cakes and pies. Most people get tired of eating in restaurants, and while they eat in cook shops, or heat soup, they must buy their deserts. You will find it profitable to make a house-to-house canvass. I'll send the address of the Women's Exchange, too.

My present situation as a waitress does not give me satisfaction. I intend to be a hairdresser—the course will take six months. I am 25 years of age, French by birth. Do you think my prospects are a good one? P. D.

I really think it is a splendid idea to become a hairdresser. You know, of course, that they have been rushing business ever since the bob came into fashion. However, if you are undecided, there are two very good schools for men that pay while you learn the trade. One is in machine shop practice, the other in telegraphy. I'll send the addresses. I will be very thankful if you can assist me, I have always held hotel, restaurant and steamship positions and can do almost anything in that line, but my age is against me. I have no confidence in agencies. I am past 50 but well preserved and healthy. MRS. F. W.

The Department of Labor maintains an employment bureau which is not like an ordinary agency in that they do not charge for their services. If you do not care for a position as night watchman, I think perhaps you could find more suitable work as doorman for a hotel or apartment house. Walk around and inquire.

Cultivate Pleasing Habits To Captivate Admirers

Try to see your self as others see you.

But, in doing so, don't visualize yourself as you would appear before one of the magic contorting mirrors at the circus.

Be fair to yourself in your own analysis.

Perhaps you have some mannerisms. You may not be aware of it yourself. If that is the case, I hope you have a real friend who will tell you of them. Kindly and constructively criticism is a real service and springs not from hyper-criticism, but from real affection and deep love.

Don't be angry and churlish if some unpleasant mannerism is called to your attention, but take it in the spirit in which it is meant, and begin at once to correct it.

I have seen beautiful girls, whose radiance and beauty were dulled the moment they opened their mouths. A harsh, unpleasant voice is ruinous. Deep breathing, simple vocal exercises will easily correct this.

Nervous habits of fidgeting while talking will irritate even the most lenient person. Be sure that you are always at ease.

Never interrupt a conversation, wait until a sentence is ended.

Be over-careful of your table manners. Don't practice affectations in handling the silverware. Fewer women affect the pointed little finger while drinking out of a cup nowadays than they did a few years ago. But it is still as disconcerting and unforgetable as the fork or knife on the table.

Don't lean all over the dinner table star gazing in the candlelight. It's bad for the elbows and doesn't look as well, either. A graceful, carefree erect sitting position is far more effective. Don't toy with the silverware or make designs with the fork or knife on the tablecloth. The waiter will hate you for it, and every one who sees you will put a black mark against your personality.

Many girls fall into unbecoming mannerisms through self-consciousness and inferiority complex.

CONTRASTING SIDES OF CREPE SATIN EFFECTIVE

The Paris couturiere has always been fond of utilizing the contrasting sides of crepe satin to secure subtle effects. Worth has introduced this idea into the field of velvet by using chiffon velvet on both sides for an evening gown in mauve.

The whole frock is made on the reverse side of the velvet, but is cleverly draped from the back of the left shoulder so that the side usually shown appears in the light. A large bunch of long-stemmed artificial violets finish it on one shoulder.

Worth shows an unusually beautiful, iridescent, beaded gown in his mid-season winter collection. Georgetown is embroidered all over in a lace design in pale blue. Iridescent crystals of minute size and the hem of the skirt, which is much longer in back than in front, is scalloped to enhance further the illusion of lace.

DIET AND WINTER

When the icy fingers of Jack Frost nip your nose and clutch at your ears it is time to think of your nutrition. If you are well nourished, you will be more resistant to colds when the thermometer takes that sudden drop

GOOD MANNERS

Q. Is it not rude to punctuate one's conversation with such remarks as "Do you get me?" "Understand what I mean?"

A. Yes. It is a reflection on the listener's intelligence.

Q. Should the napkin be entirely unfolded when it is spread across the lap?

A. The napkin is only shaken out of its first folds to be laid scarfwise across the lap, not spread as a dining rug or apron spread across the knees.

Q. Is colored ink ever permissible for social correspondence?

A. Black or blue-black ink only.

Q. Is it not rude for a parent to scold a child sharply in the presence of others?

A. Yes, it is both rude and unkind. That parent is discreet and kind who leaves sharp corrections for strictly private interviews and is careful not to bruise sensitive childish vanity.

Affairs of the Heart and Your Marriage Problems

By Patricia Lee

Patricia Lee answers questions relating to problems of married life. Names and address, should be added to letters as a mark of good faith but will not be published. Readers who desire private answers should enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of typing, etc. Because of space limitations it is not possible to print answers to all letters received, and readers who wish an early reply should take advantage of this special service. On account of the large quantity of mail coming to this department, about ten days should be allowed for a reply. Write to Patricia Lee, care of this paper.

What else can a girl do but entertain in her room when that room is the only one she knows? The folks who frown on the practice of young girls who live alone or with another girl in one room and entertain their boy friends there will have to find a solution of the problem other than to restrict the entertaining.

The day of the chaperon is gone by, and every girl today thinks she is capable of taking care of herself, too.

The girl who writes that she is in the habit of letting a young man hug and kiss her when he takes his leave at night after seeing her to her one-room home perhaps would recitate in having this same young man kiss her eyes, but wouldn't she kiss him just the same, before she got quite into the house or in the hallway or on a secluded park bench?

Environment hasn't very much to do with it at all. Young people are going to love and be loved. They are going to grope about a bit blindly at times, to find a mate, and the youthful kiss will always be a real part of life.

Dear Patricia Lee:

My father and mother are dead and I live in a boarding house, so that a young man whom I met at church, who takes me out always brings me to the boarding house in the evening. He always wants to hug and kiss me before he leaves, and I let him. Do you think there is any harm in this? I am 16. E. H.

Harm you ask? I hope not, but a girl has to know for herself. Just what kissing and hugging mean to her and to the boy that kisses her. It is all within yourself, my dear, and although I do not believe in petting or promiscuous kissing, I see no harm in your kissing the boy good night.

My Dear Miss Lee:

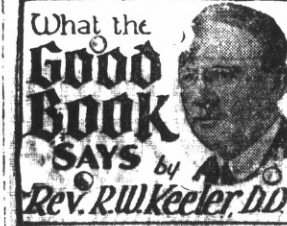

I am 22 and have been married for seven years, and have a boy of 6. For five years we were happy, but now we keep the home only for the boy. A man where I work became interested in me and began taking me home in his car every night. He has been very nice to me and I like him very much. The other night he kissed me, and I was too happy for words, and then he told me that he had taken me out on a bet with one of his friends. He said he didn't want me to get angry over it, and I told him I wasn't but I cried myself to sleep that night. He has asked me to go out with him again, and I know he will wait for me. What shall I do? BROKEN HEART.

I wouldn't go, of course. Some times I almost think there is an excuse for doing unconventional things for the sake of love, but any man who admits that he took you out on a dare has little respect for you, let alone love. Forgive him. You say that you are keeping your home together for your child. Remember it.

WHY I BLUSHED

While in the movies, I was telling my friend, Mary, what I had received for Christmas. Jean, one of my friends, had given me a box of three handkerchiefs. I said to Mary, "Can you imagine Jean giving me a box of cheap handkerchiefs? She couldn't even be original." I turned around and saw Jean who had heard everything I said. RUTH GRAND.

BEWARE OF MARRIED MEN BY ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc. BEWARE OF MARRIED MEN, starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

Myra Martin, secretary to Leonard Gilbert, a divorce lawyer to whom she is engaged, discovers that her sister, Helene, is in love with Huntley Sheldon whose wife, Nita, is divorcing him. Myra, disguised, goes to Sheldon to force him to give up her sister, and is caught by Nita, but escapes unrecognized save by Sheldon. Helene elopes with Ralph Naylor, but, finding that Sheldon has visited her sister, concludes that it is Myra who is fascinated. She arranges to meet Sheldon. Nita discovers the rendezvous, but does not know who "Helene" is. She goes to her lawyer, Gilbert, and tells Myra her plans to trap Sheldon.

"Why, she phoned Mr. Sheldon this morning," Nita went on quite eager to tell all her news to anyone at all—just so she could talk and get it told. "And Bots had the wires tapped." She speaks in a very soft, cooling voice—can you imagine it! She phoned him herself, and as soon as she said: "Hello," he recognized her voice, and he called her "Helene, darling." O, Bots heard the entire thing. And Mr. Sheldon asked this person to come to his apartment at two thirty this afternoon. Moreover, his parting words were: 'I'll see that we won't be disturbed.' Mrs. Sheldon laughed sarcastically. "Disturbed—O, no!" "Well, that should help you clear up matters," Myra was keeping hold of herself with tremendous effort, and trying to determine what she should do. If she could only get rid of this visitor and think. She

Leonard would be there—Nita—Helene! All of them. And Nita would accuse Helene before everyone. And Leonard would find out about it. And Nita would publish it. And Helene would lose Ralph. And everything would be in a frightful mess. What would Leonard say when he saw her there. She must reach the apartment before Leonard or Nita, either one, got there.

She snatched her hat from the rack and jammed it down on her head. She pushed her papers to one side and weighted them down. She flew out through the outer door, calling to the switchboard operator as she went past: "I'll be back in about an hour. Very important engagement." She waited impatiently for an elevator, and then, at last on the ground floor, she hurried to the street and around the corner, where she had parked her car. She jumped in, started her engine, released the brakes, and was off, disregarding all speed laws.

CHAPTER XV

In his studio apartment Sheldon walked up and down, smoking, and awaiting the arrival of Helene. He looked at his watch. Two fifteen. She'd be there almost any minute now. He was anxious to hear what had happened on Saturday night, and more anxious to see the girl. He was rather surprised that she had called, but he thought, no less, expected it. Women usually called him. Well, they could spend an afternoon here undisturbed. He had dismissed his valet, and everything was in readiness.

Indeed, the "studio" was usually in readiness. Sheldon had taken it because of the quietness, and the fine arrangement of the rooms, and only the chosen few knew of its existence. He reserved it for his smaller parties and a tete-a-tete now and again. The main room was a huge place arranged comfortably with large, easy chairs, lounges, and small tables for the convenience of cigarette trays and drinks. A stairway led to a series of four upstairs rooms, all opening out on a balcony. Of the living room was a breakfast room, and of that, a kitchen. An ideal "studio" apartment.

Helene had never been there before, but Sheldon had often told her about it, and asked her to come. Now, at last, she was here. He was, at last, a very able frame of mind, he decided, because of the way in which she had disappointed him on Saturday night. He wondered whether she knew of her sister's visit; whether Myra had kept it to herself. He decided in favor of the latter idea, as it was not exactly a story to broadcast, thanks to his own efforts.

The house phone rang. Sheldon threw his cigar into the fireplace and answered.

"Yes, . . . O, yes, Helene, come right up." He put up the phone and opened the door. In a few moments he could hear her footsteps echoing down the hall. Helene appeared.

"My darling, I'm so glad to see you," Sheldon drew the girl inside and attempted to kiss her. Laughing, she evaded him, but she turned and said "I've got to go now. I promised him I'd pick him up at two o'clock. Thank you for re-

GRACE LUTHERAN GUILD CELEBRATE 3rd ANNIVERSARY

The third anniversary meeting of the Grace Lutheran guild was held yesterday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. The church parlor was beautifully decorated with large baskets of lovely white carnations and ferns. The centerpiece, which graced the table was a low vase filled with deep pink carnations, pale pink carnations and ferns. There were two birthday cakes iced in white with deep pink candles over the top.

Mrs. S. T. Himes conducted the devotional and Mrs. T. R. Webster presided over the business session. Mrs. H. W. Winkler read a leaflet, "The Greater Light." Mrs. Winkler also played the organ for the singing of the hymns. Three new members were taken into the guild, Mrs. W. H. Page, Mrs. M. Baldwin, and Mrs. D. T. Dinnon.

A novel missionary collection was taken, each lady attending bringing a bag containing as many pennies as she was years of age.

After the business session dainty refreshments were served and the birthday cakes were cut. Mrs. T. R. Webster made one of the cakes in honor of her grandmother's birthday. It is the custom of the Grace Lutheran guild to have those members having a birthday during the month to serve the refreshments at that meeting. Mrs. Webster displayed a beautiful quilt with exquisite workmanship which her grandmother gave her.

Mrs. W. H. Page sang two solos during the service of the refreshments. There was an excellent attendance at the business meeting and the social time which followed.

The Swedish Lutheran Ladies Aid society of Richmond met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thieste, 38 Twelfth street at 2 o'clock.

School nurse, says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every drugist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Friend vs. Profit Producers

The Mechanics Bank, as an independent and locally owned institution, measures its success by what it can put into the community by helpful service, rather than by what it can take out.

The first question asked in determining its policies is: "How can we make this bank a more effective business ally of Richmond individuals and concerns?" Service is an all-important consideration.

In dealing with The Mechanics Bank, therefore, you can feel that you enjoy the status of a valued friend, not merely a source of possible profit.

Meighan Is Star of "City Gone Wild"

To Sing In Oakland

Initial engagement is varied and representative of the regular season in Chicago. The opening bill, Alda, has long been considered the ideal first night opera both by Chicago and the Metropolitan Opera Companies, and it is one of the standard operas which bears repetition again and again. Its spectacular and impressive scenic investiture and the tuneful and melodious score makes it agreeable both to eye and ear, and its production requires the full strength and resources of orchestra, chorus and ballet, as well as furnishing "star roles" for a number of principals. La Gioconda is another on the list of the standard operas, and this will be shown on Thursday night with Rosa Raisa, conceded by many to be today the world's greatest dramatic soprano, in the leading role.

The other two operas in the repertoire represent the best of the new production, a certain number of which are introduced each season. In Resurrection, Mary Garden will be seen in the role which critics have suggested to be the outstanding success of her career, which has many to his credit, Garden herself "discovered" this opera, having witnessed a performance given by a small company in Brooklyn, and she immediately wired Herbert M. Johnson, business manager of the opera company, to secure the producing rights so that she could include it in her repertoire. This she did, and following the premiere two seasons ago, the opera immediately became one on the regular schedule so great was the interest and success.

Chicago Opera Company To Present Season In Oakland

Oakland's rapidly developing status as an important art center is again demonstrated with the important announcement of an Opera Season in the Municipal Auditorium by the Chicago Civic Opera Company, one of the two major Opera Organizations in this country.

Several significant considerations are disclosed with this announcement which are worthy of mention. There is no small measure of justification for a consciousness of a definite civic pride, prompted by the fact this engagement will be an only one of the Opera Company in the Bay region this season. But four cities in California will be visited during the present tour of the Chicago Company: Los Angeles, Fresno, and Sacramento being the other three. According to an oft-repeated adage, "a person is known by the company he keeps," and if this is equally applicable to cities, Oakland is indeed in good company, acting as hosts to the distinguished artists who will be greeted during the four day season. The bookings of the company following the close of the regular twelve weeks' season in the home Opera House, the Chicago Auditorium, include sixteen performances during a two weeks' stay in Boston, and stops for one or more performances in twenty other cities, including Detroit, Michigan, Columbus, Ohio, Memphis, Tenn., Tulsa, Oklahoma, Rochester, New York, San Antonio, Texas, Portland, Oregon, Seattle, Washington, Denver, Colorado, Lincoln, Nebraska, and Minneapolis, Minnesota. During this trans-continental tour, which will require two whole months, no state other than California includes more than two stops, and the majority of them only one. In many of these cities, the annual visit of the opera company has become a firmly established event, anticipated with keen interest and enthusiasm, and it is to be hoped that this first visit to Oakland will prove so eminently successful, that the opera song-birds will be induced to return with each spring.

"STARK LOVE" FEATURE FILM AT RICHMOND

When the motion picture critic of Liberty saw "Stark Love" the Paramount picture which reaches the Richmond Theatre today he wrote:

"He (meaning Karl Brown, the director) deserves a medal for 'Stark Love.' Take my tip and see it. You will welcome its sincerity and its complete lack of masquerade, permanent waves, and cupid-bow lips. It is the real thing the movie has done in a long time."

Photoplay listed the production among its best pictures and advised readers not to miss it.

"There is a genuine treat in store for all movie patrons who look to bigger and better ideas," said Classic. It may be found in "Stark Love."

"In producing 'Stark Love,' wrote the Mid-week Pictorial reviewer, 'Karl Brown has achieved something distinctly worth while from every point of view.'"

"A movie critic is apt to be, come alarmingly introspective after having seen a picture like this, and if he sees a picture like 'Stark Love' once in ten years, he is lucky; he reasons to himself, 'Here I must sit and think up some way to express my respect and admiration for this fine, honorable achievement' and I know that whatever words I select will be inadequate," said the erudite gentleman from Life, and continued "The fact of the matter is this: 'Stark Love' is the closest approach to genuinely high tragedy that the motion picture has ever made certainly in America."

For those who haven't yet seen this remarkable picture, let it be said, that "Stark Love" is the second chapter of "The Crimson Flash," an undorned tale of an ambitious mountain boy who fights for the girl he loves even after his father decides to take her for "his woman." This slice of life must be screened to be appreciated.

Other film features include the reading of "The Crimson Flash," featuring Cullen Landis; "Ko Ko Backs Up."

AVIATORS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO MAKE RECORD $23, 000, 000

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19. — Failure again, rode in the cockpit today with Lieut. George R. Pond and Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, who ended their attempt to break the world's endurance record at 10:17 this morning after being in the air for 50 hours and eight minutes.

The plane was forced to land when the fuel supply was exhausted.

The aviators took their huge Fokker, the "Spirit of California," aloft at 8:09 Tuesday morning. It carried slightly more than 1,500 gallons of gasoline and forty gallons of oil. When it taxied down to its hangar this morning there was but ten gallons of fuel left in its tanks.

Both Pond and Kingsford-Smith were bitterly disappointed by the outcome. Especially since they were within a few hours of the mark established by the German aviators.

They attributed their failure to the low temperature which has held this vicinity in its grip for the past two days.

"If the temperature had not been so low," Pond explained, "we believe we could have kept aloft for at least 55 hours."

The first twelve hours of the flight, according to the aviators, was made under ideal conditions. After that, they said, it was a battle. Both aviators suffered from the intense cold. Pond asserted that at times he was so cold that he could scarcely handle the key on his radio equipment.

Notwithstanding their failure, both men were elated at the performance of their plane. Pond said he believed that they had established a new load lift record. The weight of their plane when it took off was the equivalent of 73 passengers, he said.

Mrs. R. J. Ralph Sues For Divorce

Divorce proceedings were filed against R. J. Ralph, Richmond feed and grain merchant, in the Alameda County Superior Court yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Bessie Martin Ralph who charged her husband with cruelty. Mrs. Ralph is involved in the E. B. Smith, First National Bank swindling case, and it is thought that the divorce proceedings have grown from the swindling case. Embezzlement of $25,000 is charged to Smith by the First National Bank of Oakland and Smith is alleged to have given Mrs. Ralph a $1000 bond which was later regained by the bank. Date for hearing the case has not yet been set.

U. S. Agents Find Rum Charges True

Martinez To Have Jr. High School

MARTINEZ, Jan. 19. — Organization of a junior high school district, authorized this week by trustees of the Martinez, Briones Valley, Vine Hill and Franklin elementary schools, was completed last night when the board of trustees of Alhambra Union High School District created the new educational district by adoption of a resolution. Confirmatory action by the electorate is not necessary.

With school facilities in Martinez and the other districts embraced in the new junior high school district crowded to capacity and with speedy relief demanded the high school trustees called on architects to submit sketches and rough plans for the junior high school at a meeting to be held here Saturday night, January 25.

W. T. Van Voris, principal of the high school and other school authorities are to make a survey to determine the number of class rooms that will be necessary and submit the data to architects.

McNary-Haugen Bill Defeat Is Forecast By Farm Bloc

(By Universal Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — Crumbling of the farm bloc on the McNary-Haugen bill, with its equalization fee provisions, was evidenced today as prominent members of the House Agricultural Committee, who supported the measure last year, declared they were ready to drop it in favor of a substitute.

Faced with probability that President Coolidge will again veto the McNary-Haugen bill, should congress send it to him, farm bloc leaders declared that it would be futile to proceed with the certainty of defeat.

Some of the farmers' organizations are still fighting stubbornly for passage of the McNary-Haugen bill, with its provisions for an "equalization fee" to be collected from commodities as they pass into market for the purpose of meeting whatever losses may be incurred in the attempt to stabilize prices.

Chairman Haugen, Iowa, said he will drop the McNary-Haugen bill "when a workable substitute is produced."

Representatives Williams (R.) of Missouri, and Adkins (R.) of Illinois, Anderson (R.) of Minnesota, are understood to be ready to junk the McNary-Haugen bill for a passable substitute.

Representative Aswell (D) of Louisiana, consistent foe of the measure, pointed out that the attorney-general advised President Coolidge that the fee is unconstitutional.

MORRIS SCORES HIGHER COURT IN OIL TRIAL

(By Universal Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — Conduct of the Burns-Sinclair contempt trial by Justice Frederick L. Siddons in the District of Columbia Supreme Court was scored as "a spectacle that should bring the blush of shame to every citizen" by Senator Morris (R.) of Nebraska, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, on the floor of the Senate today.

His tart criticism of the complicated legal muddle which has developed since trial of Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and their four associates for contempt in shadowing the Teapot Dome trial jury was made during the debate of the resolution to exclude Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois.

"We have a spectacle going on down in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for the last six or ten weeks that must bring the blush of shame to every citizen of the United States who believes in the proper administration of the laws and the proper trial of cases before the courts," Morris declared.

"We saw a millionaire defy the laws of the United States. We saw Sinclair go on trial, and it developed that he had hired a whole lot of detectives and that they were following the members of the jury."

"I was brought to the attention of the court. The court charged the jury, declaring a mistrial. After enormous amounts of money had been expended, the court practically held that some body was guilty of contempt of court."

"Then after waiting a week or two the same judge appoints a committee to prosecute those people—when as a matter of fact all that it would have been necessary for him to do, and what he ought to have done, according to his decision in discharging the jury was right, was to say: 'These defendants will be given until tomorrow morning to show why they should not be held in contempt of court.'"

"Instead of that, however, when they get fairly started with the prosecution the judge turns in, instead of trying the defendants and tries the prosecuting attorney; and from what I can see I think he is about to find him guilty and find the defendants not guilty."

Nearly Mad With Rheumatic Pains!

"Nearly every day, especially in damp weather, I suffer terribly from shooting pains and sharp twinges in my legs and arms. Nothing gave me any relief and at times I thought I would go mad. When I tried 'St. Jacob's Oil' it was with no hope at all. The very first application brought relief and I have had perfect comfort since."

Good old "St. Jacob's Oil" certainly does relieve the pains and aches of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis, Lumbago and Neuralgia. This soothing, penetrating oil seems to reach right in through the pores and draw out all the pains and aches. And there is no burning of the skin. Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" at your druggist and try it out on any pain, ache, sprain or swelling.

Ferry Funds Are Ordered Returned To Stockholders

Stockholders of the San Francisco-Richmond Ferry company are to receive funds of the company held by the Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust company, after legal claimants have been satisfied, according to an order of the Railroad Commission made public last night. A previous order of the Commission released 70 per cent of the company's money for the creditors, this second order will release the balance. It is expected that the amount will be enough to provide each stockholder with only a small share of his original investment.

Financing of the company failed and holders of the stock headed by O. R. Ludwig of Richmond brought suit for the recovery of their funds. Attorney Deane Smith was counsel for the stockholders.

CLOTHIERS AND STYLE LEADERS CAGE VICTORS

By H. A. M.
 "This is station HAM broadcasting on 233 3-4 meters by authority of the federal board of health. You will now hear a short talk on last night's city league basketball game, given by our sport expert, Geraldine Dix."

"Well, boys and girls, I'm happy to be with you this morning and tell you about the wonderful games played last night at the Roosevelt Junior high school gymnasium. If you listened in to our broadcast yesterday morning you will know that the LaMoine Druggists and the McRacken Clothiers played the first game. The Clothiers won by a close score of 23 to 20 in one of the most spectacular games of the evening. In the second game the Mechanic Bankers, who played like a bunch of all-stars—no team work—were defeated by the score of 28 to 12. Ben Malik's Style Leaders picked on the poor little kids."

"And boys and girls, I was so glad to see our old friend Robert Paasch back playing with Ben Malik's Style Leaders. And it meant so much to me to see handsome Gay Vargas in the game. Really, I don't know what I would do if Gay wasn't in the game."

"The McRacken team started out to play a ragged game, and did, up until a few minutes to play when the Druggists were right on their tails and causing them worry and loss of sleep. Up to the last few minutes of play it was anybody's game."

"I might go on and tell how Schrader scored nine points for high point man for his team or I might tell you how Bob Wilson scored nine points, for high man for the McRacken team, but I won't—it takes too much time. Please stand by."

"This is radio HAM giving to you a report of the basketball games played here last night. This broadcast is made possible through the courtesy of the Straw Cigarette company—not a smoke in a car load."

"The Banker-Ben Malik game, I hate to tell you, was very, very ragged. After watching the Bank team in action for the past few or six weeks, I have reached the conclusion that the team had bigger and better players and better team-work they might win a game. But of course some people are always belittling."

"Every person with the exception of one scored for the Ben Malik team. We should have two, for the time-keeper didn't have a chance for some reason. Patrique Chatterton was high point man for the winners with seven points while no one in particular was high point man for the Bankers."

"Outside of these little trifles it was a good game. Please stand by."

"This is radio HAM, B. A. announcing: you have just heard a brief review of last night's basketball games played at the Junior high school gymnasium. This broadcast was made possible by the Kleene bath tub company. (no things in the tub). We will be on the air again next Sunday morning, broadcasting the preliminary game on Monday night's games. Good morning."

Heeney, Disappointed By Verdict, Certain He Won

I thought I won Friday's fight and I'm truly disappointed that I didn't get the decision.

I fought Sharkey all the time kept coming in to him and me him punch for punch. It was fine to hear that big crowd give me the fine reception it did, and

I wanted to be a good fight,

I think I principally due to the fact that I made it a fight all the time by my aggressiveness.

Sharkey did a lot of holding and clinching. I think I did more open fighting and landed cleaner blows. I know that I hurt him while he never hurt me with any of his punches during the whole twelve rounds.

If I meet Sharkey again—and

I want to box him again—hope the fight is for fifteen rounds.

I've shown that he can't hurt me in twelve rounds and know that I can knock him out in fifteen rounds. I know what he's got now, and at the last last week had been fifteen rounds. I think he would have stopped him. I would have stopped him. I would have stopped him. I would have stopped him. I would have stopped him. I that I won't make the next time we meet. I was overanxious for one thing. I think this was the first time I ever fought any one that I was nervous before the fight. I've fought three championship fights already, one for the championship of New Zealand

one for the Australian title and one for the South American title

I never felt nervous before any of them. Still, I was a bit keyed up before this one.

I don't mean that I was afraid of Sharkey. I simply was pump-and anxious to get in there with him, and when I did I think I was a little too anxious. I will be cooler next time.

Another thing I think is that

I trained too much for the fight

I wanted to be in the best condition, and I was trained down to the bone. I was stale, and that was the way I couldn't punch the way I wanted to with my right hand. I should have used a straight left on Sharkey more than I did, yet because I made two mistakes last week was overanxious I kept throwing

my right hand.

My right hand.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

Never before has a Chinese Herbalist written a book in English. The revised edition of "Herb Lore," the first of its kind, contains numerous articles on Chinese Herbal Remedies. Theories and Methods of Treating Various Ailments, all written by Fong Wan himself. The contents of this book are very different from those books composed by advertising agencies or by employed authors. The herbalists who publish such books are not even able to read what the books contain. Fong Wan's book is designed to set forth clearly the nature and preparation of herbs, and to show how these wonderful gifts of Mother Nature are used, in accordance with the ancient Chinese Theories, to combat disease in its various forms. The book also contains approximately 200 testimonials, given chiefly by East Bay people who have been freed from suffering by drinking the Fong Wan Herbs. One copy may be obtained free by each family if called for at the Fong Wan Office, or a copy will be mailed to any address upon request and receipt of 10 cents in stamps.

SENATE FINDS SEAT BOUGHT BY CORRUPTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Branding his credentials as tainted with fraud and corruption, the Senate today voted to exclude Senator-elect Frank L. Smith (R) of Illinois, from membership in the body and declared his seat vacant.

Party lines were split on the final roll call as the Senate voted to bar the Illinoisian by the overwhelming vote of 61 to 23, a majority even greater than had been expected.

Twenty-one Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite voted with the Democrats in favor of the resolution excluding Smith, while two Democrats joined with the "old guards" Republicans in opposing it.

The resolution, introduced by Senator James A. Reed (R) of Missouri acting on behalf of the Senate Committee which investigated the language in part of the famous Newberry Resolution and included a severe rebuke of the manner in which Smith secured his election. The concluding paragraphs read:

"Resolved, that the acceptance and expenditure of the various sums of money aforesaid in behalf of the said Frank L. Smith is contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the Senate, and tainted with fraud and corruption the credentials for a seat in the Senate presented by the said Frank L. Smith; and be it further resolved that the said Frank L. Smith is not entitled to membership in the Senate of the United States and that a vacancy exists in the representation of the State of Illinois in the United States Senate."

U. S. REFRAINS FROM GUIDING PAN-AMERICAN BANDITS SHOT IN ATTEMPTED BANK ROBBERY

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, JR.
HAVANA, Jan. 19.—The United States is resolved to avoid any appearance of attempting to dominate the deliberations of the 6th Pan-American Conference.

This was the outstanding development of the day as the delegates got down to the real work of the congress through the organization of the eight commissions to handle the various topics on the agenda.

The American delegation, it was made plain, will make no effort to guide the conference through the holding of official posts of importance, but will confine its activities to assisting the others in dealing with such questions as may arise.

Although those in touch with the course of events have realized for some time what would be the attitude of the United States, the first open indication came when former Secretary of State Hughes, chief of the delegation, declined the chairmanship of the commission on the Pan-American Union.

The next came when Mr. Hughes seconded the nomination of Foreign Minister Gustavo Guerrero of Salvador for chairman of the commission on Public International Law.

The third was when Mr. Hughes, suggested to Dr. Guerrero that Dr. James Brown Scott, scholar in international law, be made one of the eight ponentes, or reporting secretaries, who will deal with the vital work of codification, the most important task of the conference.

By these three moves, the American delegation eliminated itself as an openly aggressive factor in the work of the two most important commissions of the congress. Mr. Hughes personally eliminated himself from conspicuous activity in the work of the commissions, for he is assigned to only these two.

Moreover, the selection of Dr. Scott, passed over the names of three other men who were listed ahead of him in the American appointments to the commission on public international law, one was Mr. Hughes himself, with the keenest interest in the various projects, Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher, a veteran in the field of inter-American relations, and former Senator Underwood of Alabama.

While Dr. Scott is recognized as one of the foremost of the world's scholars in international law, he is not regarded as an advocate of policy. He was a member of the congress of jurists which drew up the projects to be considered by the conference. In the opinion of the delegates, he will consider the projects only from a judicial standpoint, without regard to questions of American policy.

All this does not mean that the American delegation will be without prestige or influence. Whenever Hughes and his associates speak, their words will carry inevitable weight. But, so far as the organization of the conference for its most important work, the responsibility rests in other hands.

The moves of the American delegation today also served to push into the foreground those who have been regarded as likely to stir up difficult issues. When Hughes declined to head the commission on the Pan-American Union, he suggested the name of Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentine Ambassador to Washington and Chief of his country's delegation here.

The Ambassador also declined, indicating that other duties made it impossible for him to serve. Finally, on a general vote, Olaya Herrera, head of the Colombian delegation, was chosen chairman. Jacobo Varela, Uruguay Minister at Washington and chief of delegation, was made ponente of the commission.

The "Noble and Apostolic figure of Mr. Hughes," to quote from the Havana press, also was noticeable during the deliberations of the International Law Commission. The American chief seconded with a most complimentary speech the nomination of Dr. Guerrero to be chairman. The nomination was made by Orestes Ferrera, Cuban Ambassador to Washington, and acting head of the Cuban delegation, since the elevation of Dr. Bustamante to the presidency of the conference. The work of this commission, recognized as the most important of the conference, was then divided into eight parts, corresponding to the classification of the public international law projects submitted to the congress by the jurists. The eight delegates assigned to these different phases were Pueyrredon of Argentina, Scott of the United States, Ameghino of Uruguay, Alfaro of Panama, Ferrera of Cuba, Maurtua of Peru, Gonzalez Roa of PORTLAND, Jan. 19.—Two bandits shot dead when with a band of four they were attempting the Mount Scott State Bank here this morning were identified by police this evening from fingerprints as having criminal records, one an ex-convict at the state prison in Walla Walla, Wash.

The men were killed by a rifle in the hand of J. Demorest, cashier in the bank, who decided to give battle rather than see his funds taken.

Police reported that Fred Williams, 38, one of the dead men had been sent to the prison from Spokane on a larceny charge. The other bandit, John Benton was arrested on Armistice Day in Seattle as a suspect. Pictures of both were found soon after the bodies were taken by the coroner.

The Mount Scott Bank was robbed December 12, just three weeks ago, when $19,000 was taken.

Demorest was of the opinion, although not positive that Williams was the leader of the bandit party at the time the bank was robbed.

Demorest said he took his rifle to the bank this morning on a hunch. Last night he told Mrs. Demorest he felt something was going to happen today and that he would be prepared.

Demorest and others in the bank were ordered in to the vault as the bandit pair entered. Instead he stepped behind the desk picked up his rifle and as the first bandit stepped up to lock the others in, he fired the bullet penetrating Williams' heart. Then as Benton began shooting Demorest swung his rifle, shot through the glass screen and killed Benton as he stood near the counter.

BAPTIST LADIES SERVE LUNCHEON

The delicious chicken luncheon served by the ladies of the Bible class of the First Baptist church yesterday from 11 to 1 o'clock was enjoyed by many. Mrs. W. Craven and Mrs. William Phillips were in charge of the luncheon assisted by members of the class.

Mexico and Castro Beeches of Costa Rica

Senor Maurtua also was chosen chairman of the commission on private international law, and Dr. Scott was made vice chairman. The work of this commission was divided into six parts. These and the other commissions organized during the day were adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

CHOIR OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN IS ENTERTAINED

The First Presbyterian choir was entertained at dinner last night by the members of that church. Mrs. W. A. Boone was in charge of the dinner, assisted by Mrs. W. H. Cameron, Mrs. J. H. Spires and Miss Sarah Spires. Mrs. Carl Alexander had charge of the table decorations.

The table was elegantly decorated with silver candelabra with tall pink cardies and a silver centerpiece filled with pink carnations. At each place there was a miniature music standard, which held a dainty place card. On the center table a treble clef was outlined in black and on it were the heads of musicians arranged so that they formed a bar of music. Rev. Earl W. Hickey was toastmaster and gave an informal toast. Those responding to Rev. Hickey's toast were: S. A. Marshall, director of the choir; J. H. Platte, chairman of music committee; Mrs. Charles St. John, organist at the choir; Mrs. W. A. Boone, and Mrs. Ross Calfee.

Choir practice followed the delightful dinner.

This lighting improves a room's appearance

If you wish to improve a room's appearance in an easy, inexpensive way, do it with good lighting.

The money you spend for one of these lamps does more to improve a room than the same money spent for other furnishings.

For the abundant, soft, colorful light makes an "interior" seem lovelier. It's just like redecorating the whole room.

This lamp is different from any other lamp. There is a reflector under the silk shade that diffuses or scatters the light. This is the new principle of design that combines beauty with good lighting and eliminates harmful gloom and glare.

The lamps (both floor and table) have a base finished in silver or gold and there is a selection of four silk shades. You can see them at our office.
